

LOTS OF FAHES.

Many Netters and Seiners at
New York To-day.

One Craft Brings In Her Fish
Alive.

A special to the TIMES from New York, reports the following mackerel seining arrivals at Fulton dock to-day:

Sch. Bertha M. Miller, Capt. Eli Wilson, 80 barrels fresh medium mackerel.
Sch. Sarah E. Lee, Capt. Frank Hall, 100 barrels fresh medium mackerel.

Sch. Libby Shearn, of Galveston, Capt. Smith, 50 barrels fresh medium mackerel.
Sch. Richard Wainwright, Capt. Thaddeus Morgan, 65 barrels fresh medium mackerel. This is the fourth trip for the Wainwright.

Sch. Vera, Capt. William Corkum, 75 barrels fresh medium mackerel.

Also the following netters:

Sch. Lydia A. Harvey, of Boston, 5000 large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Queen of the Sea, 3000 large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Lizzie May, of Portland, 2500 large fresh mackerel. This fare was brought alive in the hold of the vessel, the first time for years mackerel have been brought in this way.

The mackerel are bringing 12 cents each for large and 8 cents each for small.

The Bait Act.

The St. John's Herald of last week says:

A gentleman who arrived from Saint Pierre recently says that herring for bait purpose are in great demand there, but the supply is nil owing to the rigid enforcement of the bait act. Big figures would be paid to the venturesome fisher who would send along a cargo or two now but none are to be found to make such a venture owing to the presence of the Ingraham in the waters of Fortune Bay, and the French folk must resort to some other fish as a substitute, or their banking voyage will collapse the present season. It will be interesting to note the outcome. Most people believe it will mean a shrinkage in the French catch, which will show the immense power Newfoundland holds for purposes of retaliation against unfair trade in the shape of excessive bounties.

Captured an Octopus.

A giant octopus weighing 2,500 pounds, and with arms 56 feet long, was captured recently by Tatoosh Indians in Neah Bay, off Cape Flattery, after having killed two men and upsetting the canoe in which they were, breaking it as if it were straw. The back of the creature was a dark red and the lower parts a light pink. There were about 350 suckers on each arm, varying in size from a pin point to a saucer. The body was dragged ashore.
